

December 11, 2014

We at Agape' Children's Connection, inc. want to thank the students of Capitol Area Technical Center for their creative car designs. Capitol Area teacher, Mrs. Douin, along with Agape' Children's Connection, held a contest to design a pro-stock car that Cameron Folsom drives during the Wiscasset Speedway series. Mrs. Douin incorporated this project into a class lesson. Former Nascar driver, Multi X-games and Rally Car Champion as well as Nitro Circus founder Travis Pastrana chose the top three contestants while ultimately choosing a winner. This decision was not easy as many of the entrees were extremely artistically creative. Travis chose: 3rd place, Samantha Dowe. 2nd went to Luke Deuchart while the winner was Zachary Folsom (no relation to Cameron). Travis noted the lines on Zachary's car design where clean yet creative. His only suggestion would be to change the orange to red, as to keep the car in line with a Patriotic color scheme.

My personal favorite went to Nigel Kozak as I loved his use of colors and artistic flair. ☺

Agape' Children's Connection is a non-profit organization that helps over 200 orphans, 300 lepers and 200 widows in South India. Money raised for this foundation feeds, clothes, shelters and educates while sustaining children in a loving atmosphere, away from the violence, neglect and trafficking that they endure on the streets.

We want to thank Capitol Area Technical Center, and Mrs. Douin for incorporating a project that benefited not only the students in Maine, but children globally. We want to thank Cameron Folsom for allowing students to design his car graphics as well as for Travis Pastrana for choosing the design to be utilized. Cameron uses his racing to promote awareness as he continues to raise money for the children in South India. We want to also thank Cameron's father, Corey for taking this idea to Mrs. Douin.

Thank you all,

Debby Pastrana Williams

Travis' mom and President CEO of Agape' Children's Connection, inc